The West Point Atlas of War: World War II: European Theater

Originally published in 1959 as part of a two-volume set, The West Point Atlas of War: World War II: European Theater provides a unique way of studying military history. From the Campaign in Poland in 1939 to Operations in Italy in 1945, detailed maps delineate the course of the many conflicts that defined World War II. They also create a fascinating visual tribute to the ingenuity of troop movements by detailing the progress of forces from day to day (and sometimes from hour to hour). The accompanying text provides insight into the many twists and turns of the war, as well as the motivation of the leaders directing the troops who carried them out.

Considered a classic of military history, the original volumes were prepared by distinguished members of the Department of Military Art and Engineering at the U.S. Military Academy and used as instructional tools for the cadets. This mammoth and invaluable work was created under the direction of Brigadier General Vincent J. Esposito, a faculty member at West Point for more than twenty years. His highly respected endeavor allows readers to easily follow the entire course of a campaign or battle in detail while gaining a greater understanding of the European theater during World War II.

Includes black and white photographs.
